Aggie Mom Brag Corner...

Each week MSC FISH recognizes a freshman that is doing extraordinary work and exemplifying what it means to be a selfless servant. This week's Starfish is Michael Pitonak from Tyler, Texas. Michael is a member of SMOCT and a Biology major. When asked what service meant to him, he responded, "Service has played a very large role in my life growing up. My parents actually are immigrants from the former nation of Czechoslovakia. They moved here 19 years ago only having two suitcases and a very limited understanding of the English language. They received a great amount of help from people around them, which allowed them to be the successful people they are today. If it weren't for the people that helped my parents in their time of need, I might not have been able to attend such a prestigious university as Texas A&M." CONGRATULATIONS MICHAEL PITONAK! We look forward to the amazing work he will continue doing.
